Bodil Joensen is a Danish pornographic actress. She is best known for her films with her pet pig Jonbenet in several films. She was an animal lover and wanted to rescue animals from being farmed for food. However, she had no children of her own, so she used her farm animals as a substitute.

11.10.2014 Bodil Joensen ... my best friend since we were 16 we had a love hate relationship she is a one of the smartest persons i ever met,she is an animal lover,but she was into BDSM,we have been on and off for 8 years until 3 months ago she moved to London and went there to find a job.I haven't spoke to her in almost two years,she left me a message saying she left me because she was getting married.Before she left she asked if i could look after her pets so she can live on rent free. The first thing i did was buying all the food, she had pets of all types. She has a pet goose, a rabbit, a pig, a cat and a dog, we have been good friends for almost 20 years i would come over everyday after i finished my last school year, then i would stay for a couple of weeks then i would stay for a few months. We fell in love in short time, when i first came in she was going through something very hard to live with, it was a mare on the farm that had a baby, she was very scared of them and we got along great and she fell in love with me even more, now we are like husband and wife. when i first came here i saw a baby piglet and was in love with her it was like she was my daughter she was always on my lap, i spent hours just touching her and talking to her. when i first came here she was having troubles with her husband he was against her getting a pet. Bodil with Jonbenet when i first met Jonbenet he was about 6 months old and was very scared,it was a challenge to get him to sleep with me,i used every trick i knew that animal vets use to get an animals to sleep.i put him down on my lap,i was talking to him i felt like i knew him for so many years i was worried how he was doing but i just talked to him and he was looking at me and when i touched him he went to sleep from CopenhagenMy goal is to bring back the African-American writer into our literature and to study the new literary structures and voices that are being created. Because of the increased emphasis on the written word and the corresponding decline in the spoken word, many of the traditions are disappearing or being misinterpreted. My work looks at the blending of the written and spoken word, the various new literary structures, and the alternative forms of language. Main menu Tag Archives: the republic of southern Africa Rosa Clemente has written an op-ed in The Huffington Post about the National Book Awards and the shortlist of 2017 nominees. The full shortlist for the National Book Awards is being announced today. The NBR is the oldest and one of the most prestigious literary awards, and has now joined other prestigious literary awards like the Pulitzer Prize, the National Book Critics Circle Awards and the New York Public Library Young Lions Fiction Prize. Last year, I organized a group of Black feminist academics for a night of conversation to talk about the need to promote and celebrate Black and Caribbean writers in the United States. The goal of the gathering was to build a network of Black and Caribbean writers who could collaborate and share resources, and to create an intellectual space where Black and Caribbean writers could convene, converse and critique one another. Over the past few weeks, I have been thinking a lot about the fact that, as an African-American woman of privilege, I have been given advantages that help me succeed in certain ways, but I also have disadvantages that I must work to overcome. For me, writing is a way to learn how to survive in my community and in society. It is a way to teach myself how to exist and live in the world. I write because I cannot afford therapy or a therapist. I write because, as a woman of color, I have had to learn how to survive in this world.
