Start Photoshop Elements Launch the Photoshop Elements image-editing software and open the figure in the next image. Make sure that you are in View mode as we begin. 1. Select the Straighten tool in the Toolbox. If you are using the keyboard, press A. The Straighten tool appears on the screen. You can also access it from the Window menu. 2. Click once on the lower-left corner of the image to center the image on the screen. Press and hold the Shift key and click the opposite corner to center the image. Now you're ready to rotate the image. 3. Click once on either side of the corner to rotate the image to match the orientation on the screen. 4. Select the Whole Selection tool (the black arrow in the Toolbox) and double-click anywhere on the screen to place the selection origin. 5. Click again to rotate the image. 6. Press Enter to accept the selection. A path has been created through the image and is now highlighted in yellow. If you are using the keyboard, press Shift+S. 7. Select the Layers panel (Window menu → Layers) and open the tab (notice the Layers icon at the top of the panel). 8. Create

This is me and a couple of my fellas I spent a good part of last week at the Texas Renaissance Festival as a drag performer. Myself, Mikey and my fella. If you haven't done much drag before, it takes a lot of work to prepare your voice, your walk, your make-up, your wardrobe and everything else. It is very draining. Especially in the heat and humidity in Texas. So, I am happy to say the three of us did not win any awards. It is very competitive and I don't think we will anytime soon. Most folks might not really consider us to be a winner anyway. I am happy for them and I am happy with myself!

Mood and psychological symptoms in myocardial infarction, post myocardial infarction, and pre-menopausal and post-menopausal women with and without coronary heart disease. Given the prominent role of depression in the onset and course of coronary heart disease (CHD), this study evaluated the occurrence and evolution of depressive mood and psychological symptoms in CHD women and compared these patients' responses with those of post-myocardial infarction (MI), pre-menopausal, and menopausal CHD women. The affective state was assessed by the Self-rating Depression Scale (SDS), the Beck Depression Inventory (BDI), and the Zung's Self-Rating Anxiety Scale (SAS). Psychological symptoms were assessed by the Beck Anxiety Inventory (BAI), the Zung's Self-rating Anxiety Scale (SAS), and the Psychosomatic Symptom Inventory (PSI). The SDS, BDI, and SAS were administered twice: at baseline and at 2, 8, 30, and 60 months. The BAI and SAS were administered once at baseline and at 1, 8, 30, and 60 months; and the PSI was administered once at baseline, at 30, and 60 months. Overall, 79 patients (89.8%) presented negative feelings about their lives, especially regarding psychological status. The average SDS and SAS scores were correlated ($r = 0.44$). Within the post-MI group, total SDS and BDI scores showed no significant differences at baseline, during follow-up, or when comparing baseline and follow-up scores ($p > 0.05$). However, post-MI women who were in a major depressive episode during follow-up showed higher SDS and BDI scores than women who were
